FUND OBJECTIVE

The Balanced MultiFund aims to provide moderate levels of growth with moderate levels of risk and volatility over the medium to longer-term.

It is anticipated that the Balanced MultiFund will achieve a return of 3-month LIBID + 1% to 3% in the currency of the relevant share class over a rolling 3 to 5 year period.

In order to achieve the investment objective, the portfolio invests across a range of asset classes within a strategic and tactical asset allocation framework designed to maximise diversification benefits. An absolute and relative valuation-based approach underpins this framework, resulting in a multilayered process to facilitate disciplined decision-making and risk management.

The Balanced MultiFund is suitable for clients with an investment time horizon of 3 to 5 years. Investing in the fund involves a risk to capital in order to achieve the desired return.

MARKET COMMENTARY

Nedgroup Investments (IOM) Ltd

December provided a solid end to what was an already strong year for many asset classes. Good economic data releases confirmed that the synchronised cyclical economic upswing remained on track, and, if anything, is accelerating. In response, economists continued to raise their forecasts for 2018, which served to boost investor confidence.

In terms of specific events, perhaps the most notable was the US Senate's narrow passing of the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act, which could lead to the largest tax overhaul in the US since 1986. The most important element for financial markets is the proposed cuts to the corporate tax rate, which could fall from 35 to 20 percent. Additionally, the proposals could also provide a strong incentive for US corporates to repatriate cash held in offshore bank accounts, which would enhance their ability to raise dividends and boost share buy-backs.

A second important event was the last minute agreement between the UK and the EU on the three "phase one" Brexit issues relating to the divorce bill, citizens' rights and the Irish border question. Whilst Britain gave more ground than the EU to reach a compromise, the story is far from over as the two protagonists will now move to the even more contentious second round of talks on trade and security. On the face of it, the outcome so far suggests that the UK is on a path towards a "Soft Brexit". However, this will not sit well with the so called "Hard Brexiteers" within the UK Government / Conservative Party, which suggests that there is plenty more Brexit anxiety ahead, most acutely for the UK, but also for the EU.

As noted on numerous occasions throughout the year, financial market volatility remained unusually low, which was partly down to improved global economic performance, but also to the anaesthetising impact of continued central bank bond buying. Against this background, most asset classes rose, with riskier and more volatile investments leading the way.

Equity markets rose by +1.5%, as measured by the MSCI All Country World Index in sterling. All the major regions and countries advanced, with the UK (+4.8%), the Emerging Markets (+3.5%) and Asia ex Japan (+2.6%) producing the best returns. The strongest sectors tended to be cyclicals, with good performance in Energy (+4.6%) and Materials (+4.0%) contrasting with the weakness of Information Technology (+0.0%) and Utilities (-4.2%). Finally, in terms of style, Value (+1.6%) outpaced Growth (+1.4%), whilst Smaller Companies (+1.7%) just had the edge on Larger Companies (+1.5%).

Fixed income markets were relatively quiet through December as government bonds were flat (+0.0%), according to the JP Morgan Global Government Bond Index. As with equities, riskier assets were better rewarded, with the Merrill Lynch Global Investment Grade Corporate Bond Index returning +0.4%, the Merrill Lynch Global High Yield Index delivering +0.1%, and the JP Morgan Global Emerging Market Bond Index rising +0.5% (all in hedged to sterling terms).

The Bloomberg Commodity Index rose by +2.9% in December. The economically sensitive Industrial Metals sub-sector was particularly strong as it advanced +9.0%, followed by Crude Oil (+5.3%) and Gold (+2.5%). Only Agriculture (-1.6%) lost ground, in part because it is more affected by weather patterns as opposed to being a play on general economic conditions.

The major currency markets were relatively quiet over December, with the euro, pound, yen and dollar all little changed against each other. That left the main movers to be either emerging market currencies or those most closely linked to the strong commodity market. The stand-out performer was the South African rand (+9.7% versus sterling) as it responded positively to the election of Cyril Ramaphosa as the new leader of the ANC. Elsewhere the Australian and Canadian dollars were also well supported, as they rose against the pound by +3.3% and +2.5% respectively.

Notes: All monthly data is quoted in sterling terms unless otherwise stated.

PORTFOLIO COMMENTARY

The Nedgroup Investments Balanced MultiFund rose by +0.7% during December.

Within equities, the best performing funds were Dodge & Cox Global Stock (+2.8%) and Morgan Stanley Global Brands (+2.6%). Dodge & Cox benefited from its tilt towards Emerging Market stocks, which outperformed in December, whilst the strength of Consumer Staples stocks supported Morgan Stanley as it has a strong bias towards this sector. At the other end of the spectrum, Nedgroup Global Equity (-0.7%) was negatively impacted by both stock selection and its overweight to healthcare which underperformed during December.

Within fixed income, with risk assets performing well during the month, the tilt towards credit was broadly supportive for absolute and relative performance. The best performing funds were the higher quality investment grade funds, Wellington Global Credit Plus (+0.6%) and PIMCO Global Investment Grade (+0.4%). Elsewhere, the fortunes of the sub-investment grade funds were also mildly positive, with AXA US Short Duration High Yield (+0.2%) and Muzinich Short Duration High Yield (+0.1%) both up, whilst Kames High Yield Global Bond was flat. Finally,

Franklin Templeton Global Total Return (-1.3%) was a drag on performance in December as it lost value on the back of some unhelpful developed and emerging market currency positions.

In other asset classes, Nedgroup Global Property Fund (+1.9%) outperformed global equities, whilst exposure to UK commercial property was mixed. F&C Commercial Property Trust fell -3.6%, whilst Impact Healthcare (+0.3%) and Standard Life Property Income Trust (+2.2%) both rose. Within infrastructure, returns were quite positive with the exception of Greencoat Renewables (-0.3%), as Greencoat UK Wind (+3.8%) and John Laing Environmental Assets (+6.3%) both benefited from stronger UK wholesale electricity prices. 3i Infrastructure (+5.4%) also saw a strong run on the announcement that the manager had agreed to sell its stakes in two large and mature infrastructure investments - Elenia (Finish electricity distribution company) and Anglian Water (UK water utility) - at prices considerably above expectations and their last valuations. Finally, the allocation to asset-backed finance was a drag, with SQN Asset Finance Income Fund declining -1.9% and GCP Asset Backed Income flat over the month.

In terms of portfolio activity, there were no material strategy changes made over the month.

Note: All returns are quoted on a partially hedged or hedged to GBP basis.
