

INTERNATIONAL RANGE

RISK RATING

Equity and property investments are volatile by nature and subject to potential loss. For credit and income instruments, while unlikely, capital loss may also occur due to an event like the default of an issuer. The portfolio may be subject to currency fluctuations due to its international exposure.

FUND OBJECTIVE

The Income MultiFund aims to provide a low risk, low volatility investment option over the medium to longer-term.

It is anticipated that the Income MultiFund will achieve a return in excess of 3-month LIBID in the currency of the relevant share class over a rolling 3 to 5 year period.

In order to achieve the investment objective, the portfolio invests across a range of asset classes within a strategic and tactical asset allocation framework designed to maximise diversification benefits. An absolute and relative valuation-based approach underpins this framework, resulting in a multi-layered process to facilitate disciplined decision-making and risk management.

The Income MultiFund is suitable for clients with an investment time horizon of 3 to 5 years. Investing in the fund involves a risk to capital in order to achieve the desired return.

Class B includes a trail fee of 0.40%

² The annualised total return is the average return earned by an investment each year over a given time period. Performance is calculated for the portfolio and individual investment performance may differ as a result of initial fees, the actual investment, the actual investment date, the date of any reinvestment and dividend withholding tax. Data source Nedgroup Investments (IOM) Limited.

INVESTMENT MANAGER COMMENTARY

MARKET COMMENTARY

Nedgroup Investments (IOM) Ltd
Investment Manager and Distributor

Despite the fact that global forecasts for GDP and corporate earnings remain robust, investors were generally more risk averse during June. The main talking point continued to be the deterioration in trade relations between the US and most other countries, with President Trump upping the ante on all fronts. The first tariffs, on US$50bn worth of Chinese exports to the US, will be enacted on the 6th July, and Trump has threatened to extend protectionism to exports from other countries, such as the EU. In response, the EU has said it will retaliate by enforcing tariffs on US exports to Europe, such as Harley Davidson motor bikes and Jack Daniels whiskey. More recently, Trump stated he would escalate the spat further by extending levies on an additional US$400bn of Chinese exports to the US, along with other measures targeting non-US auto exports worth up to US$360bn. Naturally, all these threats and counter-threats did little for investor confidence, causing volatility to rise and economically sensitive assets to sell off.

Central banks also made the headlines, with growing policy divergence contributing to uncertainty. Whilst the Federal Reserve raised interest rates and sounded a little more hawkish than in previous speeches, Mario Draghi and the European Central Bank responded to worries about Italy and signs of a slowdown in the EU economy by leaving policy unchanged and generally making dovish statements. The Bank of England also left interest rates unchanged as it wrestled with Brexit related uncertainty.

In Europe, the financial markets remained wary about the future plans of the new Five Star / Lega coalition government, whilst the Brexit talks continued to give all the appearance of being a complete shambles on the part of the UK government. With the Cabinet, Parliament and whole country hopelessly split down the middle on the best route forward, it appears that the Prime Minister is unable to determine what kind of a future relationship she wants with the EU. As the clock ticks, business and consumer confidence is waning, undermining both the pound and the UK economic outlook.

Performance across fixed income markets was mixed, with high quality sovereign bonds benefiting from their safe haven status, whilst riskier segments generally declined in value. Against this background, the JP Morgan Global Government Bond Index rose +0.2%, whilst the Merrill Lynch Global Corporate Investment Grade Bond Index lost -0.5%, the Merrill Lynch Global High Yield index lost -0.2%, and the JP Morgan Emerging Market Bond Index slipped -1.1% (all returns in hedged to GBP terms).

Over June, the MSCI AC World Index rose +0.2% in sterling terms, boosted largely by the weakness of the pound. With Trump fuelling trade tensions, Emerging Markets (-3.4%) and Asia ex Japan (-4.1%) were under severe pressure, whilst developed markets, such as the US (+1.4%), Europe ex-UK (+0.2%) and the UK (-0.2%) generally held up better. Increased risk aversion also meant economically sensitive sectors tended to underperform stable earners, with Financials (-1.6%), Industrials (-2.1%) and Materials (-1.0%) all struggling, whilst Consumer Staples (+3.0%), Utilities (+2.1%) and Healthcare (+2.0%) all rose.

The better relative performance of the US economy, along with expectations of further increases in US interest rates, saw capital flowing towards the dollar, which rose against most of the currencies we monitor. The fortunes of the pound were more mixed, as it slipped by -0.7% versus the dollar and -0.6% against the euro. Elsewhere, emerging market currencies were quite weak, with the Brazilian real (-3.2%), the Chinese yuan (-2.6%) and the South African rand (-7.3%) all sharply lower versus the pound.

PORTFOLIO COMMENTARY

The Nedgroup Investments Income MultiFund was flat (0.0%) during June.

Within fixed income, the portfolio's bias towards corporate credit was a slight headwind. The impact was felt mostly in the higher quality investment grade credit funds, with PIMCO Global Investment Grade Corporate (-0.5%) and Wellington Global Credit Plus (-0.5%) lagging a little as spreads widened. However, performance was much better amongst the lower quality (and less interest rate sensitive) short duration high yield funds, such as AXA US Short Duration High Yield (+0.1%) and Muzinich Short Duration (+0.1%), which focus of one of the few areas that benefitted from spread tightening. Finally, Franklin Templeton Global Total Return (-1.5%) was negatively impacted by its exposure to emerging markets bonds and currencies, which were under pressure over worries about the detrimental impact of rising US interest rates and a stronger dollar.

In other asset classes, falling equity markets meant the small exposure to high dividend paying stocks through the iShares UK Dividend Fund (-0.1%) was a slight negative. However, UK commercial property was helpful in aggregate as F&C Commercial Property Trust (+4.6%) rose strongly and Standard Life Property Income Trust (-1.2%), Impact Healthcare (-0.5%) and Target Healthcare (+0.5%) broadly offset each other. Infrastructure also performed well as Greencoat Renewables (+4.5%), Greencoat UK Wind (+3.5%) and John Laing Environmental Assets (+3.8%) all benefitted from rising electricity prices. Finally, the allocation to asset-backed finance was also positive, with both GCP Asset Backed Income (+1.0%) and SQN Asset Finance Income Fund C-Shares (+0.2%) both making gains over on the month.

In terms of portfolio activity, there were no material strategy changes made over the month.
